Lockstraps Tie-Down System

From the July, 2010 issue of Super Streetbike

Leaving your ride strapped in the back of your truck or trailer overnight can be a dubious endeavor. Will it still be there in the morning? With the Lockstraps tie-down system you can have some piece of mind in those situations. Alongside a locking carabiner is a steel cable that runs inside the length of the strap, making it extremely difficult for a would-be thief to cut through it. And there's even a soft tie-extension so you don't have to risk any scratches.
